Ms. Thomas has learned almost as much in her first year of teaching as we did in her English class.

Addendum

The method behind the format of this Teachers Yearbook was pretty simple. Starting with the year of 1971, every teacher that appeared in that year book is represented here. The intervening years are also included however, if the teacher only appeared in a couple of yearbooks, then he or she was not included. It's nothing personal, but the intention here is to celebrate those teachers who have taught at the high school for decades, and who stuck it out through those many years of low pay and foggy weather.

We honor those hardy and committed souls who put in their time at the high school, and who made a difference not only at the school, but on the coastside as well.

Excelsior!
